

COUNCIL SUBMITS BY-LAWS FOR DEBENTURES

To Build Store house and Lay Spur Tracks—Date Set for Annual Rate-payers Meeting, Election and
Court of Revision—School
Board Wants $1000.

The regular meeting of the town council was held in the council chamber last Monday evening. Mayor Bots occupied the chair, and the following councillors present: Lavelle, McLachlan and Ireland.

The minutes of previous meetings were read, and after some corrections were adopted.

A by-law authorizing the issuing of debentures for $2,000.00 for the erection of a store house and purchase of tools and implements, was given its first and second reading.

A by-law authorizing the borrowing of $2,000.00 by debentures for the building and maintenance of an industrial spur track was also given its first and second readings.

Both these by-laws are published in full in this issue.

Some time ago the council received a letter from David J. MacLean on behalf of their client asking that the First Ave. be opened up. Town Solicitor Baird reported that the council had looked into the matter and found that the part of the avenue complained of had been legally closed some time ago and cancelled by the sitting judge.

A by-law, setting the date and place for holding the annual municipal election for councillors for the year 1915, was read and passed. Monday, Dec. 14, was set as the date, and Cowie's hall as the place. Mr. W. Henderson, sc., was appointed returning officer.

On motion of Councillors Lavelle and McLachlan it was decided that the council sit as a court of revision on Friday, Nov. 13th, to revise the vote lists which will be used for the approaching municipal election.

The date for the ratepayers' annual meeting was set for Monday, Nov. 20th. The meeting will be held in the Empress theatre and will start at eight o'clock in the evening.

A letter was read from the C.P.R. board asking for $1,000 to defray current expenses. The matter was referred to the finance committee with the assurance from the mayor that it would receive immediate attention.

A letter was read from the C.P.R. protesting against taxes on the company's land within the town limits. The letter pointed out that by government charter the company is exempted from taxes on said land. The matter was referred to the town solicitor.

The auditors' who are now auditing the town's books submitted a report in which they recommended some changes in the present system of book-keeping. They also drew the attention of the council to a number of outstanding accounts for water, and asked that these might be put in better shape so that the uncollectible accounts might be written off in order that the books could be squared up to the end of the year, thus doing away with the necessity of carrying these old accounts over from time to time. The council adopted the report and expressed their thanks to the auditors for the apparent interest they had taken in the town's affairs.

The finance committee presented a number of accounts which were ordered paid on motion of Councillors Ireland and McLachlan.

CONSECRATION OF NEW CHURCH ON DECEMBER 3RD

Ceremony to be Held at 7.30
—Followed by Reception in Reid's Hall—Boy Scouts
Will Form Guard of Honor

The new St. Ambrose church which is being built by the Church of England on the corner of 5th street and 5th avenue, is now nearing completion, and when finished will be one of the finest churches in this diocese.

The new church will be consecrated by the Lord Bishop of St. Asaph on Thursday, Dec. 3. The ceremony will take place at 7.30 in the evening. The local boy scouts will form a guard of honor. Immediately after the ceremony of consecration, or at 9 o'clock, a reception for the Bishop will be held in Reid's hall. The reception will be in the form of a social, after which there will be a musical programme and singing.

Our readers should keep this date in mind and make no other engagements for the evening, as it will be one of the events of the season.

HEATING PLANT NOW IN ROSERY

Although we have on a few occasions in the past referred to the Redcliff Rosery which is being built here, we had no idea of its magnitude till we visited it this week.

Two buildings are now completed, one is 50x200 ft. and the other 50x125 ft. They are fitted up in the most modern style and the plumbers have just completed installing a fine system of steam heating. The engine room is of concrete and has two large boilers, purchased from Amherst, N. S. The property owned by the company covers an area of land much of which is now in excellent condition for spring seeding. The plant at the present time, including the land, represents an investment of $20,000.00.

Already in the main hot house a large quantity of lettuce and other plants are in a very healthy condition and will be ready to put on the market in about three weeks.

Mr. Pratt expects to have a quantity of greens ready for the Christmas trade.

A quantity of onions and other of the hardier vegetables are already in the outside ground, and as the land is now in shape an early start is anticipated for all lines of garden stuff in the spring.

A visit to the plant will not only prove very interesting but will show the extent to which this company is going here.

NIGHT POLICEMAN HAS NARROW ESCAPE

In Performing His Duty He Wakes Citizen From Slumbers
—Is Forced to Surrender at Point of Rifle.

That our citizens are not mourning

the loss and untimely death of one of our night policemen today is due to the coolness and bravery of one of our local citizens. It happened this way.

One night last week one of our night patrol men saw what he thought were suspicious characters prowling around the streets at midnight. In order to conceal himself and yet have a place of vantage, he decided to climb up onto a roof of a vacant store on Blank street. To do so he had to scale the brick wall of the adjoining private residence. When about half way up one of the loose bricks pulled out and fell to the ground among some tin cans, making a desperate noise. This awakened the woman of the house, who in turn awakened her husband, stating she knew there was someone trying to get into the house.

When the husband got his eyes and ears open he distinctly heard some one prowling around on the adjoining roof and prepared to give battle. Armed with his old musket—a relic of South Africa—he proceeded to fight off the invader, and if he worst came to the worst, to provide work for the coroner and undertaker.

The frightened wife ran to the window, and with screams that could be heard at least two feet away, called police and help till she called herself hoarse. The husband by this time was outside and getting a lead on the roof climber's head, was about to pull, when the policeman, scared speechless, threw up his hands and surrendered.

When he was the invader said if it hadn't been for puncturing the new uniform he might have had a large practice anyway. After the policeman came to, he said he had quite made up his mind there would be a strange face in heaven for breakfast.

As the husband said he would be heard at least two feet away, called police and help till she called herself hoarse. The husband by this time was outside and getting a lead on the roof climber's head, was about to pull, when the policeman, scared speechless, threw up his hands and surrendered.

LITTLE MARY HARBERT MEETS WITH ACCIDENT

Falls on Stick Which Enters
Her Mouth and Struck
Vital Spot—Now in Serious Condition—Operation Performed.

We regret to be called upon this week to announce a serious accident which befell little Mary Harbert, the six-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harbert of this town. While playing with some companions the little girl accidentally fell on a stick which she carried in her hand, the sharp point of which entered her mouth and penetrated a vital spot.

At first the accident did not appear to be serious, but later complications developed, and it was decided to call in additional medical aid.

Dr. Brown immediately summoned Dr. Smyth and Dr. Brown, of Medicine Hat and Dr. Anderson, of Brooks and after consultation it was decided to perform an operation. This was successfully performed yesterday by Dr. Smyth, and although the little sufferer is still in a critical condition, hopes are entertained for her ultimate recovery.

Little Mary is a bright and pleasant girl, and is a general favorite among her playmates, all of whom are anxious to hear of her improvement.

As the husband said he would be heard at least two feet away, called police and help till she called herself hoarse. The husband by this time was outside and getting a lead on the roof climber's head, was about to pull, when the policeman, scared speechless, threw up his hands and surrendered.

WAR NEWS IS BETTER FOR PAST WEEK

Japs Take German Stronghold in China—Australian
Cruiser's Sink German
Trouble-Maker --- Allied
Land Forces Holding Ground.

Activities in the war during the past week have assumed more warlike proportions, each day bringing forth fresh news of fiercer fighting and great destruction on both land and sea.

On the whole the outlook for the campaign this winter has brightened considerably.

First came the news that the capture of Tsing-Tau, a German stronghold, by the Japanese and British troops. The fall of Tsing-Tau was a most important event as it took away from Germany for bases on important base of supplies in the Pacific. The capitulation of the fortress now leaves the British and Japanese ships, or at least a large portion of those of them on duty on the Pacific, free to pursue their operations against the German vessels which wrought havoc off Corcoral a few days previous.

Following close on the fall of Tsing-Tau came the news that the Australian cruiser Sydney had run down and destroyed the German cruiser Emden. The Emden was the last of her kind, and had been doing so much damage to the British lately.

The Sydney sighted the Emden on Monday morning. With superior speed she at once closed and gave battle. The German boat, could not escape, and was a running fight, at the end of which the Emden, burning from the shells of the Australian, was sunk.

The casualties on the Sydney are said to have been slight.

The engagement took place in the Bay of Bengal and the Emden went ashore on an island of the Coco group where she burned. The captain and most of her crew were saved, although it is estimated that over two hundred perished. Previous to the engagement with the Sydney the Emden off the British cable connecting the Coco Islands with the outside world.

The news from the front is of a cheering character. The blow of the Germans against the front of the allies are growing weaker, and while they may be renewed in a final effort, it seems certain that no successful effort to gain the nearest can be made by the enemy.

The Russians have become increasingly active with the approach of winter. They appear to have finished off the remnants of the Austrian army and they may be expected to resume their march to Berlin at an early date. It would appear that the bulk of the fighting will presently be on German territory, and then we shall see how the German troops will stand up when they see their own land being laid waste by the ravages of war.

Austria's main army, in Galicia, is fighting before the Russians. It has been surrounded and its escape over the Carpathian mountains cut off, according to advices received by the Allies.

It is stated that the Austrians must accept the challenge of the Russians for a decisive battle or surrender. A Russian army, marching toward Silisia, has arrived at Keshow, only a few miles from the right wing of the German army in retreat from Russian Poland.

A critical stage of the battle of West Prussia has now been reached, and the next few days, if not hours, should produce something more decisive than has yet occurred.

The Germans have continued to attack with all the force at their command, but the British and French have held the line between Dinant and Ypres, but with the exception of the capture of Dinant, which occurred on Tuesday, and some little progress around Ypres, they have not been able to make any material advance.

2,000,000 MEN FOR BRITISH ARMY
There is a steady flow of recruits for Kitchener's army, and it is expected that the British territorial, who number 600,000, England, before long will number an army of 2,000,000 men. The British are also being organized in India.

U. S. SYNDICATE WILL DRILL FOR OIL IN REDCLIFF

Have Taken Over Redcliff
Gas & Oil Company's Lands Just West of Town
—Already Making Preparations to Drill—Will Have Derrick Up in Few Weeks.

According to all reports and judging from recent activities, Redcliff is soon to become the centre of great oil operations.

Some time ago a company known as the Redcliff Gas and Oil Company was formed, and preparations were made to start drilling operations on their holdings just west of Redcliff.

Joseph Stetson, as head of a California syndicate, made tempting offers to the company for their holdings in this district. His offer was accepted, and now the new company is busy getting things in shape to start operations at a very early date.

Geologists have been out over the town and have reported, as many times before, that the prospects for oil are more promising here than any place in the province. These men travelled over the country from Athabasca Landing to the boundary of the province arriving at this conclusion.

Among the men interested and who have been drilling for oil in the Redcliff area, is O. G. Devenish, president of the United Oil of Alberta, and O. S. Chapin, vice-president of the United Oil of Alberta, and O. S. Chapin, vice-president of the United Oil of Alberta.

So convinced are these men there is oil in this district that they have been busy filling on and buying up leases until at the present they have control of practically the whole of townships 15 and 16 in range seven.

We are informed that it is the intention of this company to start operations as soon as possible and they expect to have the derrick up before the snow flies. The first well will be sunk at the outskirts of Redcliff.

In its announcement of this company and its intentions in the issue of last Tuesday the Medicine Hat Herald said that the company had bought for itself at the expense of Redcliff when it says there will be a gas well drilled about six miles west of that city. They forgot to mention that six miles west of the Hat would land the gas well in the Redcliff area.

It is also stated that the company always has been very anxious to get and hold subsidies under this neck of land six miles west of the town. They are now making arrangements every morning they address them "Redcliff," not "Six Miles West of Medicine Hat."

The Brooks oil fields are also to be developed according to latest reports. A party comprising O. G. Devenish, O. S. Chapin, of Calgary, and Barnum Brown, who has been unearthing dinosaur remains in the bad lands of the Red Deer for the New York museum of natural history, for three years past, and J. A. Kampher, who was minister of mines for Mexico under the Madero administration, were in Brooks.

It is understood that they expect to develop certain leases in the Brooks area. The company is the Phillips Elliott syndicate, who have a drilling outfit at Stieville but who have been considerably delayed, are now making plans for real development work on their leases.

ROYAL BANK FINISHED BY DECEMBER 15TH

Work on the new Royal Bank building is being rapidly rushed ahead and the contractors, Messrs. J. A. Kampher and J. A. Kampher, are at present doing the plumbing for the first floor of the 15th of next month.

Mr. Martin has completed the lathing and the plasterers are just putting the finishing touches on. The work on the second floor is also at present doing the plumbing for the first floor of the 15th of next month.

The first floor of the new water heating system of hot water heating is being installed in time. It was stated that it will be one of the most modernly equipped buildings in town, and will add greatly to the appearance of Broadway street at the junction of Third.

THEY NEED THE BEST

Some complaints have been made by western ranchers because British officers are buying horses for the army in the United States.

While we think that so far as possible all goods and equipment for the British army should be purchased within the Empire, yet the question of horses is one that has two sides to it. There may be thousands of ranch horses in western Canada, and they may be the proper breed and size, but they are broken and in proper condition for war purposes. It is just as essential that a soldier have a good, well trained horse as it is that he have good arms and be well trained himself. The best trained soldiers in the world, with the best equipment, would be useless on a bucking rattled broncho.

It would be suicide to send a bunch of horses to the front which had only been halter broke a few days before the purchasing officer saw them. This kind of horses would demoralize our men quicker than the bullets of the enemy. Canadian soldiers had one experience with that class of horses during the Boer war, and we are told by one who was in that engagement that great inconvenience and hardship were experienced by our men while in training here before going to the front. Several of these animals had to be culled out.

There is no time in this struggle for any cull out process. The best horses obtainable are needed right from the start.

WHERE IGNORANCE IS BLISS

Benjamin Franklin once said: "The heart of a fool is in his mouth, but the mouth of a wise man is in his hand."

The truth of this may be seen almost every day now.

If it were not so silly it would indeed be amusing to hear on the street corner and read in some of the party papers the criticism of military officials here and even in the old land. They wonder why Kitchener, French and Jellicoe do not do this, that and the other thing, and nothing in connection with the arrangement for the Canadian contingent seemed to suit them. They find fault with, and think that they are poking fun at everyone connected with those arrangements from the minister of militia down, when as a matter of fact they are just displaying their own ignorance. We venture to say half of the fault finders don't know the difference between the navy and the infantry, yet they have the nerve to make suggestions as to how things should be done or condemn what has already been done.

Since Canada's experience, at least her present generation's experience, in war is necessarily and naturally limited, it is nothing but reasonable to expect that some little details will be overlooked by those in charge of arrangements.

It is the meanest kind of a creature and a sign of poor patriotism and loyalty in a person who rushes into print or hollers his fool head off on the street in criticism of our officials just because of petty jealousies or party politics. If there ever was a time when these things should be eliminated it is now.

Thank goodness the big men of our country and our Empire—the men who count—are above such things. It is left for the smallest small fry.

LOOKING AHEAD

In dealing with "the boys" in these columns last week we mentioned the importance of getting them interested in gardens and agriculture in Canada, and especially western Canada, must depend very much for its future progress on its agricultural development.

Since then we notice that the Hon. J. R. Boyle, minister of education for this province, has announced his programme for special government grants for the different lines of work taken up in the schools. His report states that while assistance is given for instruction in manual training and household science, special emphasis is placed on instruction in agriculture and gardening.

At the present time the great question that confronts most of our boys who are now in the higher rooms at school is: "What bridges are to be, what trade or profession will I follow?"

With all the inventions of the past century and the accompanying development and progress this question should not seem to be to decide now as it was in the time of the past generation when there were comparatively few trades to choose from. It was only a comparatively short time ago that electric cars and electric lights were unknown—men hadn't even seen a bicycle. The typewriter was yet to be invented and stenographers were yet to come. In those days they could not hear grand opera stages on a gramophone or even stretch a match, both were unknown. They had not talked over the phone or raged at "central."

Wood and air ships were made of wood, and thirty storey buildings were unheard of. Anesthetics were still to be discovered—a man couldn't have his leg amputated and not feel it. Automobiles and air ships were as dreamed of, and natural gas was still awaiting discovery. These latter, with electricity, were all, are still in their infancy. All these open up new avenues of employment and training, known when some of the parents of today were boys facing this same problem.

Agriculture, too, was in its infancy, at least as far as Canada was concerned, and now it is also opening up positions for young men and women in our schools and colleges. This leads us to what we started out to say. Although at the present time they may not be any great demand for agricultural teachers in our town and city schools, the time is undoubtedly coming in Alberta, as it did in Manitoba and other older provinces when there will be. As the rural districts develop and become thickly populated, then will come the question of central or consolidated schools where the country children can have the same advantages as the town children. Then, too, will come the demand for agricultural teachers.

In older provinces when that stage of their development did arrive they found they had an abundance of graduates of agricultural colleges capable of teaching that line but nothing else. What they wanted was a teacher who could take his place on the staff with the rest of the teachers and be responsible for certain other subjects. The teacher who could do that was in great demand and commanded a good salary. What we need, therefore, is if there are any of our boys who intend taking up teaching either as a profession or as a stepping stone to something else, that after securing their necessary teacher's certificate they take a course in some agricultural college so as to be prepared to handle that work when the proper time comes.

U. S. FINANCES

November 16th is being heralded as the day of financial emancipation in the United States. It is the day on which the new federal reserve act becomes operative. This measure will make available for American business the huge sum of $680,000,000. This will not be so distributed as to provide additional funds for legitimate business throughout the whole of the Union.

This does not mean that all who want money will get the same. It does, however, mean that the banks will have ample funds for all legitimate purposes, for which reason they can no longer refuse accommodation on the ground of their lack of money. This much to be desired condition has been brought about by the placing of an additional measure of government protection behind the banking institutions of the Republic. It is the backing of business by the national credit.

This experiment will be followed with keen interest in this country. At the present time there is an opportunity for industrial development in Canada such as it has never seen before, but those who would are not able to take advantage of it because of the financial tightness. In this direction Redcliff's industrial development is being retarded to a very great extent. An outbreak of the war we had three concerns lined up for and ready to start building operations for new lines of industry. Even since then agreements have been entered into with other concerns who are anxious to extend their business in the west and have practically decided on this town as a location, but in all cases their plans had to be postponed because of money conditions.

With the return of normal conditions we have no fear for Redcliff's chances of development, but at present in order to be able to take advantage of the opportunities now at hand some money similar to that of the States must be made.

SHOULD HAVE LECTURES

The department of extension of the University of Alberta is this year as last, arranging a series of lectures to be given by members of the staff at different points throughout the province. According to the University Bulletin about one hundred and fifty lectures have been prepared, and at present over fifty towns and cities throughout the province have signified their desire to have some of these lecturers visit their respective towns during the coming fall. These lectures deal with all kinds of subjects of especial interest to school children. They are also very educative and instructive for grown people. In all cases arrangements for securing them in any town are made by the trustee board under whose auspices the lectures are given.

In looking over the schedule

we notice the lecturers go as far north as Westlock, as far east as Bruns, as far west as Coleman, and as far south as Cardston. If it is not already too late we think the board should get busy and try to have at least a few of them given this winter. There is a long winter ahead of us and at present it looks as if we were not going to have much in the sport or amusement line, so let us have something of an educational character for the young folk.

The loss of the Emden and the botching-up of the Koenigsberg are further evidence of the remorseless grind of British sea power. Both have wrought great damage to British commerce on the high seas. But it was only a matter of time until they too would either be captured or sent to the bottom. A similar fate awaits the Schwarzhorn, the Gneisenau, the Leipzig, the Karlsruhe and the Bremen in the southern Pacific. For Germany to fight against the British navy to fight against fate—Lethbridge Herald.

It is understood that negotiations for closer trade relations between Canada and Australia are being re-opened and there is every prospect that a reciprocity treaty will be signed before the winter is over. This war has brought Canada and Australia, as it has every other part of the Empire, closer together, and the outlook for a successful treaty is much brighter than it was a year ago.

We notice that the University of Alberta is procuring lantern slides of the war and that they will loan these slides to surrounding towns and cities. We were just thinking it would be a good idea if the M. C. L. would make arrangements with one of the theatres to use the lantern and have these slides exhibited occasionally here. They would be interesting to young and old alike, and would, no doubt, be revenue producing.

THE FAULTFINDER.

Three men took joy in finding fault. And thus it came to pass The gods upon each one of them Bestowed a pound of glass.

The fool contrived of his a lens To focus to glaring eyes The smallest blot that could be found Was magnified in size.

The just man made of his a pane At clear without a stain Nor summer sun nor winter rain Affected what he saw.

The wise man pondered long and well How best the search to aid.

Then taking up the crystal gift Of his a mirror made.

JAPANESE ARMY FOR EUROPE Since the fall of the German position at Tsing Tau, the question of Japan's sending an army to Europe has begun to attract increasing attention. The idea finds considerable support in military circles, where it is believed that such a movement would be welcomed by France.

"Why does your new baby cry so much?"

"Say, if all your teeth were out, your hair off, and your legs so weak that you couldn't stand on them, I rather fancy you'd feel like crying yourself."

Prisoners of War Employed in Parks

The government at Ottawa is working at the present time on plans for the best method of handling the German and Austrian who will be interned as a result of the registration which is now progressing. The government does not wish to confine such prisoners, and particularly Germans and Austrians who are simply out of work, in Canadian prisons, but in concentration camps, if possible. The proposal which has met with the most favor and which will likely be adopted is that of utilizing their labor in the federal and provincial parks cutting wood and clearing brush.

This means that in Ontario they would be put to work in Algonquin park, and in the west in Banff park and Jasper park. General Sir William Otter, who is in complete charge of the work, will make a report on the whole question.

WAR PICTURES. The first exhibition of lantern slides illustrative of war conditions in Europe was given at the University of Alberta last week. Several applications for the use of the slides have already been made, both by local societies and by organizations in rural districts.

The second set of slides is now on the way from England. The department of extension expects to have them ready for exhibition in about two weeks. These slides may be borrowed by the different towns throughout the province which may want them. If any one in Redcliff has a suitable lantern an effort should be made to secure them.

TEN DAYS IN JAIL

FOR SHOOTING A BULL
Ten days in jail for shooting a bull with the sentence passed by the judge at the bygone court session, when Philip Schaffer was convicted on a charge of shooting a 3-year-old red and white bull, the property of William Aman, who lived in the Clearwater school district. Philip Schaffer is a German living in the town of Irvine, on the C.P.R. main line.

GERMAN LOSSES IN PRUSSIA

A Hava agency dispatch from Prague says: "It is estimated here that during the recent fighting in East Prussia the Germans lost 70 per cent of their officers. From October 23 to November 5 the total Russian captures amounted to 123 officers, 25,700 soldiers, 4 mortars, 42 cannons, 32 machine guns and a large amount of munitions of war, including a quantity of prisoners."

ANOTHER WAR WITNESS

"Kaiser Bill thinks he is the world's greatest military expert," observed Capt. E. J. Brice, native of the Channel Islands, and Superintendent of the castle building.
"How so?" he was asked.
"Why?" replied the Captain, "I'm trying to clean out all the Allies!"

CANADIAN BOYS

IN OLD COUNTRY

Most of the London correspondents of the United States newspapers paid their first visit to Salisbury Plain, attended by the presence of King George and Queen Mary to inspect the Canadians.

"Salisbury Plain is exactly like any country you see in Canada," said a Canadian officer on an American correspondent. "It is typical of Alberta or Saskatchewan."

The officer has just arrived at the camp but the men who have been there a fortnight said that there was one great difference between England and Canada, and they complained loudly about it as they sat around a stove in the big Green Young Men's Christian Association tent of Pond Farm, there more than 10,000 are encamped.

"We have seen more rain in the last two weeks than we see in Canada in six months and that is a great difference," they said. It is 20 miles from the old English town of Salisbury to the camp. The last ten miles are over roads which are one continuous mudslide. The big motor transport wagons have churned the tracks to sludge pooling a foot deep.

Twelve thousand letters a day are sent out of camp, directed to Canada also a few people across the Atlantic are being told about it. The principal things wanted by the Canadians are pens, ink and paper with which to write home. They are the greatest letter writers of the British army. The little tables are crowded with men who are forever directing envelopes with "Canada" written at the bottom, though some put "U. S. A." there instead.

The men sometimes demand things which the canteen is apparently unable to supply—tooth powder and paste for instance. Thousands of tins have been sold in the marquees in which little shops have been established. The prices are kept very low and the Canadians are surprised at what they can buy for a shilling. They are very fond of chocolate but when they ask for chewing gum they do not get it, for there is none to be had. They buy a great deal of brass polish for the buttons on their uniforms, and, as many of them have colds, owing to the wet, they are forever asking for patent cough mixtures common in Canada, but whose very names are unknown in England.

There are only two women in the whole camp of 22,000. They take charge of the shop in the green marquee at Pond Farm and serve out chocolates, candies, soap, handkerchiefs and towels. The men have bought many little oil stoves to warm themselves, as they sit in their own tents.

Visitors to the camp have been struck by two things besides the continuous mud. The first is the good class of men represented in the Canadian contingent—their education and social behavior and their pleasant and cheerful manners. Kindly and appears almost unknown and they are neither cocksure nor unduly meek. Respecting themselves they look for consideration from others and they get it.

The second point noted is upon the quality of horses they have brought over. They are different from the English breeds, seeming lighter and quicker on their feet.

There is a library in camp for the use of which a fee of three pence (six cents) is charged. The stories of W. W. Jacobs are in greatest demand. "The soldiers' book of ninety camp songs," price six cents, has been sold by the thousands.

PLAYS FOR AMATEUR ACTORS.

In response to several requests from societies in small towns and country districts, the department of extension of the University of Alberta has secured about thirty plays suitable for reproduction by amateurs.

These have been carefully selected with the help of an experienced teacher of elocution and dramatic expression, and with the needs, capabilities, and limitations of young people's societies in rural communities especially in mind. They will be lent on the same conditions as the package libraries, i.e. free except for return postage. Further particulars may be obtained from the Department of Extension, University of Alberta. Applicants should state the number and sex of the available performers, and whether the play is wanted for the whole or part of an evening's entertainment.

Small girl (entering her mother's caller—"How is your little girl?")
"I call—"I am sorry to say, my dear, that I haven't any little girl."
Small girl (after a painful pause in conversation—"How is your little boy?")
"Call—"My dear, I haven't any little boy, either."
Small girl—"What are yours?"

"Why does father go out between the 22's, mamma?"
"For opera glasses, my boy."

Department Gives

Special Aid to Schools

The Hon. J. B. Boyle, Minister of Education, has announced that the order-in-council providing for special provincial aid for technical education was passed on Monday, November 2. The details regarding the schedule of grants and regulations are now being forwarded to the school boards and teachers throughout the province.

The plan adopted provides for special grants (a) to school boards, to assist them in providing the necessary equipment and in maintaining the classes, and (b) to the teachers to encourage them to qualify for the special instruction and give satisfactory service therein after having qualified.

In rural and village districts, while assistance is given for instruction in manual training and household science, special emphasis is placed on instruction in agriculture and gardening. In town districts the encouragement of instruction in household science and manual training receives special attention, while that in agriculture and its related sciences is also provided for. In the cities the development of night class instruction technical day classes. Substantial aid is given also for the communities, particularly in the industrial and mining centres.

As a result of the agricultural survey of the Commission of Conservation, it has been found that in a number of cases too many horses are kept to be profitable, while the number of cattle kept per hundred acres is seldom up to the capacity of the farms.

German Spy Shot

In London Tower

It is officially announced from London that Carl Hans Lody, alias Charles A. Inglis, who was found guilty by a court martial of espionage on November 2, has been shot as a spy.

Lody met his death in the Tower of London after having been found guilty by a court martial on charges of having communicated with the enemy. The statement concerning the execution is brief, saying "sentence was duly confirmed."

It is understood that Lody did game, refusing till the last to divulge the name of his superior officer from whom he received his instructions to spy on the British army.

This was the first execution in the tower of London since 1700. The scene of the execution was the Tower barracks, not far from the spot where Anne Boleyn and other persons famous in English history were put to death.

GERMANY HAS MANY ENEMIES IN WORLD

A German general has been taking a census of the world and announces that "of 1,547,000,000 of inhabitants of the earth, 743,000,000 count as our enemies." The population of Germany and her allies, as shown by the same method of computation, is 148,000,000.

The New York Herald asks: "While he is pursuing his investigations, might it not be profitable for this German general to ascertain just how many of the 656,000,000 neutrals do not, in their hearts, condemn Germany for its ruthless, uncalculated, criminal invasion of Belgium."
